Changes/Additions in this Edition

The following is a list of the changes and additions made in this edition of the Classification Scheme for Pennsylvania Documents. It includes any changes made to the introductory portion of the Classification Scheme and all additions made in the headings for Agencies. Not included in this listing are additions of new serials titles, title name changes, and explanatory notes. All changes and additions to the Classification Scheme are denoted by “|” character in the margin beside the text that was added or changed.

INTRODUCTION

Using This Classification Scheme

Principles of the Classification Scheme

The Bordner Scheme is designed to do three things. It groups together the publications of agencies, which share a given provenance in the state government hierarchy. It provides an alpha-numeric notation, which maintains an alphabetical shelf sequence of government authors and their individual series, serial and periodical titles. And, of course, it provides logical points of access to state documents on the shelf for library users.

The system is similar to the Superintendent of Documents Classification Scheme in appearance, structure, and organization. Publications are arranged by the government agency that issued them, rather than by subject. Subordinate agencies are arranged in sub-classifications similar to those used in the SuDoc scheme, and similar punctuation is used to segregate the various parts of the numbers.

However, the word similar is emphasized here because the two schemes are not the same. The Bordner Scheme is less rigid in its use of punctuation and the format it follows, and relies on alpha-numeric notation tables for the development of its class numbers--no longer a practice with the SuDoc Scheme. In addition, the Bordner Scheme is designed to allow for the incorporation of publications from all states into one numbering system.

Agency Symbols

The first part of a Bordner class number is a letter or letters designating the state in which the document was published. For example, NJ might stand for New Jersey, D for Delaware, or P for Pennsylvania. The second part is a letter or letters drawn from the name of the issuing cabinet level agency (to be found in the List of Cabinet Level Agencies on page xvii).

EP -- Department of Environmental Protection
HE -- Department of Health
GA -- General Assembly

Thus, the agency designations are PEP, for the Pennsylvania Department of Environmental Protection; PHE, for the Pennsylvania Department of Health; and PGA, for the Pennsylvania General Assembly. All publications by departmental or cabinet level agencies are designated by the numeral "1". Therefore, the documents issued directly from these agencies would be given the main classes of PEP 1, PHE 1, and PGA 1 respectively.

Subordinate Agencies

Subordinate agencies, or bureaus and divisions of cabinet agencies, are indicated by the use of a number derived from the alpha-numeric notations provided in Table I and Table II (page 15). To illustrate; PEP 26 is the main class number for the Pennsylvania Department of Environmental Protection, Bureau of Air Quality Control. Using Table I for the first letter in the keyword "air", we see that "a" is "2". To form the rest of the number, we move to Table II, use the second letter of the keyword "i", and derive the number "6". Our class number for the Bureau of Air Quality Control is, therefore, "26", or PEP 26. Using the Tables, we could also derive, for example, PGA 98 for the Pennsylvania House of Representatives, or PGA 204 for the Senate. Both tables are used to limit the length of the notation and to allow for expansion while maintaining an alphabetical sequence.

The slash (/) is used to display a division in the classification number. For example:

PE 136.1	State Library. Annual Report
PE 136/4.3	State Library/Law Library. Law Library Bulletin

When used before the period in a Bordner call number, the slash indicates a subordinate agency.

In addition, a slash may be used to indicate changes in agency names and to maintain alphabetical order among unrelated agencies--e.g.:

PE 177	Bureau of Planning and Evaluation
PE 177/8	Bureau of Planning and Education Statistics
PE 177/8/4	Bureau of Press and Communications

In this case, the agency name change is indicated by adding a "/8" (derived from Table II for the "P" in planning) to PE 177. Alphabetical order is retained with a second agency by going back to Table I and finding the number "4" to match the "C" in communications. This example also displays the liberal use that can be made of the Cutter tables.

Publication Series

The next part of the classification number designates a published monographic series, or the title of an individual serial or periodical publication. Table III (page 15) lists reserved series designations for the types of publications that are most commonly issued.

The most frequently used series number is ".2", which covers general unrelated publications or miscellaneous monographs. These individual monographs, or those documents designated by a ".2", are not included in this list. The next most commonly used series number is ".1", for annual reports. However, in the Pennsylvania class system, this number customarily has been used as well to cover biennial reports and the single reports of special ad hoc committees, commissions, and task forces of limited existence. Mnemonics are generally added to differentiate between annual and biennial reports from the same agency-- e.g. PHE 1.1 or PHE 1.1b. Designations ".3" and ".4" are reserved for bulletins and circulars respectively. It should be remembered that these numbers are merely assigned special significance so that they can be used, if needed, to designate a specific type of regularly issued publication like a bulletin or circular which may have a continuously changing title or no legitimate title at all.

Titles

Tables I and II are again used to provide notations to designate individual serial and periodical titles. For example, PE 136.4/5 is the call number for the Checklist of Official Pennsylvania Publications.

PE	Pennsylvania, Department of Education
136	State Library of Pennsylvania
.4	for the "C" in the keyword Checklist from Table I
/5	for the "h" in Checklist from Table II

The choice of a keyword to use in deriving a cutter number from the tables is rather subjective and judgmental. However, the rule of thumb followed at the State Library is to select a keyword from a title, or from an agency name, which is less likely to change if the title is changed or the agency is renamed. Alphabetical order is maintained among separate titles again by using both Tables I and II. A slash (/) is used to differentiate the numbers that are derived from each table as can be seen in the following example:

PE 136.13/2	Law Library Bulletin
PE 136.13/4	Legislator's Library Reference List

The number ".13" is the numeral given in Table I for the keywords "law" and "legislator's". However, the titles are set in alphabetical order by adding a slash (/) and a second number from Table II to designate the second letter in each keyword, i.e.: "/2" for the "a" in "law", and "/4" for the "e" in "legislator's". In a long list of titles with similar keywords, the Bordner numbers can be easily expanded by the addition of as many slashes and numerals as are necessary to maintain alphabetical order--much in the same manner as the agency cutters were expanded above. For example:

PE 134.13/4	Legislative Reporter; Master Numerical Listing
PE 134.13/4/1	Legislative News; Weekly Status Report
PE 134.13/4/7/3	Legislative News; Daily Releases
PE 134.13/4/7/9	Legislative News; Weekly Releases

Using the Ohio/Bordner Tables to "cutter" individual titles often will require the use of a ".2", ".3", or ".4", because the keyword in the title begins with the letter A, B, or C. Since these classes are reserved for certain publication series, a slash and a second digit are added to set them apart as follows:

PE 63/6.2/3	Act 511 Taxes
PHE 26.4/7	Clean Air

Cutter Numbers

Often it is necessary to further identify individual titles with a separate Cutter number--especially monographs designated by ".2" or legislative committee publications noted by ".27". The State Library originally used the 1903 edition of C. A. Cutter's Alfabetic-order [sic] Table--Consonants except S Altered and Fitted with Three Figures by Miss Kate E. Sanborn to derive its cutter numbers. This list is out of print and is no longer available. Currently the State Library uses the Cutter-Sanborn Three Figure Author Table Swanson-Swift Revision, 1969, (Libraries Unlimited, Inc. Littleton, Colorado, 1976). The instructions to the 1969 edition claim that it "... may be employed in conjunction with earlier editions, because individual letter and figure combinations have not been changed, save for the correction of a few typographical errors." Call numbers might be expressed as follows:

Pennsylvania. Department of Community Affairs. Municipal Information Center. Citizen Referenda in Local Government.

PCA 138.2:C581r	or	PCA 138.2 C581r

Pennsylvania. General Assembly. Legislative Budget and Finance

An independent agency may be related to one or more executive agencies and/or legislative divisions and be of relatively permanent status. For example, there is the Pennsylvania Crime Commission, the Commission on Crime and Delinquency, or the Board of Governors of the State System of Higher Education. They may also be entirely independent and of a definite life span, such as the Governor's DUI Task Force or the Bicentennial Commission. Whatever the case, developing class numbers from the Ohio/Bordner Tables for these agencies can be very complex and result in some rather lengthy notations if alphabetical order is to be maintained. Consequently, the State Library uses the three figure Cutter/Sanborn table to create a numeric notation to match with the prescribed alphabetical symbol for the agency.

All independent agencies are designated by the letters "PY". The agency class then, is "PY" plus the first letter from a keyword in the agency name. For example, "PY A" might represent the Pennsylvania State Agricultural Society. By using the Cutter-Sanborn table, the number 278 is found for the letters "Ag" and added to create the basic class "PY A278".

A space appears between the "Y" and the "A" in the State Library's shelflist and COM catalog, and in the Official Checklist of Pennsylvania Publications. This is to differentiate between independent agencies and regular agencies and to avoid confusion in future cases where, for example, an agency might be named something like Department of Youth and designated "PYO 1.2."

Another aberration to the system is the means used to extend the independent agency numbers to maintain alphabetical order. Occasionally, in the past, a slash has been used to extend the Cutter for agencies with the same keyword in their names--e.g.:

PY A278	State Agricultural Society.
PY A278/3	Governor's Committee on Agriculture.

This maintains alphabetical order, but it also may imply a relationship, which does not exist. Unlike the following:

PY H673	Historical and Museum Commission.
PY H673/2	Historical and Museum Commission. Bureau of Archives and History.

Therefore, the practice of adding a digit to the agency cutter has been adopted by the State Library in recent years.

PY C582	Commissioners Appointed to Revise the Civil Code
PY C5822	U.S. Commission on Civil Rights. Pennsylvania Advisory Committee.
PY C5823	State Civil Service Commission

This can be done--and has been done--in one of two ways. First, and most simply, any extra digit can be added that will maintain alphabetical order. This is what the State Library usually does. However, a second option is to go back to the Ohio/Bordner Table II, and to use the first letter in a second keyword of the agency name to select a number for the last digit in the agency class number.

The advantage of adding a digit is that only one character is added to the basic call number, rather than two as when the slash is used. This keeps the notation shorter and simpler. Also, no relationship is implied between agencies, which share no provenance. However, the disadvantage is that to maintain alphabetical sequence, numbers over three digits must be filed in decimal order rather than in straight numerical order--e.g.:

PY C582	Commissioners Appointed to Revise the Civil Code
PY C5822	U.S. Commission on Civil Rights. Pennsylvania Advisory Committee
PY C5823	State Civil Service Commission
PY C652	Anthracite Coal Industry Commission

Interstate Agencies

Interstate compacts have existed for many years. The U.S. Constitution allows states to enter into statutory agreements with one another to resolve common problems and cooperate in areas where Federal administration is inappropriate or where the resources of one state are ineffective or duplicate those of another. As a result of these compacts, many special interstate/intergovernmental agencies have been created which, in recent years, have begun publishing a significant number of documents. Because these documents are finding their way into many government documents collections, this revision of the Bordner Scheme contains a set of classes to cover these publications.

A standard Bordner call number can be devised for these interstate agencies in most cases because states often assign administrative responsibility for a given interstate compact to a particular agency, agent, or commission.

However, Pennsylvania does not have a corresponding administrative niche for each of the interstate agencies to which it belongs. In addition, it may be desirable for larger collections containing the documents of more than one state to classify these publications separately. The practice of the State Library will be to class interstate agencies under the Pennsylvania state agencies, which are connected with them when there is a relationship with a state agency. When a relationship is not present, the publications of the interstate agency will be classed under a Dewey call number in the State Library collection. A "Y" is used to designate the interstate group of classes instead of a "P" for Pennsylvania or any letter codes for the states, which are members of these agencies. Beyond that, the system is the same as it is for a state's independent agencies.

A letter is added to indicate the keyword in the agency name along with a number derived from the three figure Cutter/Sanborn table -- e.g.:

YA 881 Atlantic States Marine Fisheries Compact

There are currently more than 170 interstate compacts in force. It is possible to use the Ohio/Bordner Tables I and II to devise class numbers for the interstate compact agencies. However, the agencies administering these compacts are similar to the state independent agencies in that they share no provenance, so using Tables I and II would result in some fairly bizarre notations if the intention is to develop an alphabetical sequence. Therefore, the rules which apply to deriving classes for the independent agencies are followed here also.

The interstate agencies assigned class numbers in this list are only those in which Pennsylvania is a participant. Those libraries interested in other interstate agencies and obtaining their publications should consult this database (<http://apps.csg.org/ncic/>) at the National Center for Interstate Compacts, Council of State Governments.

The Council of State Governments can be reached via its website at <http://www.csg.org/>.

Special Notes on this Revision

The Bordner Scheme has evolved over many years through the efforts of many individuals. It was meant to be flexible and has been adapted to meet particular needs during given periods of state publication. Therefore, users of this scheme will find some inconsistencies and idiosyncrasies. Corrections have been made in this edition when it was considered necessary to revise past errors or to alter something that was inconsistent with accepted standards.

As the provenance of various agencies has changed over the years, certain classes have become outdated or obsolete. An attempt has been made to link obsolete classes with their succeeding numbers or current counterparts. Notes have been included in the class list to indicate these cross references, and dates have been added to the notes whenever research could reveal them. In addition, entries in the index will indicate the various different classes that may have been assigned to a given agency.

When a class is indicated as being obsolete or incorrect, it means that it should not be used. The official classes to be used are indicated. Incorrect classes are those, which were originally invented by mistake (e.g., when two completely different classes were created for the same agency or publication), or were created for incorrectly named agencies. They have not been deleted, but are left in this revision as indications that changes have been made.

When no dates and/or indication of frequency are listed after a title, it means that the information is unknown and not given in the State Library's shelflist. No attempt was made to research dates for those publications listed in the 1978 edition of the Bordner Scheme, which were undated in that edition. If dates and publication frequency were readily available in the State Library's shelflist for these older publications, that information was included in this edition.

Index entries are generally in straight alphabetical order, but an effort has been made to include varying entries for agencies, which may be known, by differing forms of their name. This is not a permuted index, however, and all keywords in an agency name are not listed separately. If two or more agencies have the same name, but are subordinate divisions of different departments, they are listed separately with their individual class numbers.

When more than one class number is given at the end of an index entry, this indicates that the agency has changed its position in the government hierarchy. The class number listed first is the current classification. Numbers listed after that are in historical order from the most recent to the earliest.

Finally, it is important to note that the policy of the State Library Cataloging Section will be to add new classes very sparingly. Subagency publications will be more commonly classed under larger parent agencies than be given new class numbers. This will be done in an attempt to prevent rapid expansion of the class list and to prevent clutter and confusion as agency names change from one administration to the next. However, it is hoped that users of this list will actively aid in correcting mistakes and suggesting additions by filling out the form included at the back of this document and mailing it in.
